Robogals
The girls in 4/6J were visited this week by the Robogals team from the University of Newcastle. Robogals intend to increase the participation and interest by girls in engineering and conducted a two hour robotics workshop in the classroom. The girls learned about the challenges and creativity involved in engineering as well as programming a robot to complete a series of design tasks, obstacles and challenges. The University team provided a wonderful experience for our young ladies and inspired many of them to consider a future in science and opportunities for careers in engineering. Well done, girls of Islington!
